

ABSTRACT

The present disclosure relates to the processing of a packet utilizing a generic rule based engine, and, more specifically, to the processing of a packet or stream of packets, which are transmitted across a network, utilizing a generic rule based engine that is part 5 of a network processor.